

Policy on Mandatory Reporting Requirements for Sexual Harassment and Sexual Misconduct

General Description

Policy Summary:

This policy outlines Trinity University employees' obligations as responsible employees to report sexual harassment, including sexual misconduct, to the University's Title IX Coordinator, as well as reporting requirements and consequences under Texas state law.

Purpose:

The purpose of the policy is to ensure that the Trinity University community understands reporting requirements and are fully informed of their obligations under Texas state law.

Scope:

This policy pertains to reporting sexual harassment, including sexual misconduct, by employees at the University.

Exceptions:

The Texas state law for mandatory reporting does not apply to student employees. However, even though they are not subject to the Texas state law for mandatory reporting and associated penalties, because of their level of responsibility, Residential Life student staff members are still required by University policy to send reports to the Title IX Coordinator.

An employee is not required to report an incident in which they are the victim.

Employees are not required to report information shared during an organized, public awareness event sponsored by the University or a student organization, such as "Take Back the Night" or similar events.

Responsible Employees

Except for employees designated as "confidential", all non-student employees and Residential Life student staff are designated as responsible employees and are required to report sexual harassment, including all forms of sexual misconduct, to the Title IX Coordinator. Sexual misconduct includes: sexual harassment, non-consensual sexual intercourse, non-consensual sexual contact, sexual exploitation, intimate partner violence (dating violence and domestic violence), stalking, and retaliation. Employees designated as "confidential" include: counselors at Counseling Services, health services providers at Health Services, and the University Chaplain.

Reports must be submitted to the Title IX Coordinator via phone, email, in person, or by web:

As provided below, Texas law imposes specific reporting requirements and consequences for failure to report, including for individuals designated as “confidential.” In addition, employees who are Campus Security Authorities, as defined in the Clery Act, also have the obligation to report crime to Trinity University Police Department. ## Texas Law

Reporting Obligations

Texas law requires Trinity University employees to promptly report information to the Title IX Coordinator when the employee:

1. Witnesses or receives information in the course and scope of employment;
2. About the occurrence of an incident that the employee reasonably believes is sexual harassment, sexual assault, dating violence, or stalking; and
3. When the incident was committed by or against someone who was a Trinity University student or employee at the time of the incident.

Employees designated as “confidential” (mental health counselors at Counseling Services, health service providers at Health Services, and the University Chaplain) are required to report only the type of incident to the Title IX Coordinator. All other employees must make a report to the Title IX Coordinator that includes all information concerning the incident known to the reporting person that is relevant to the investigation and, if applicable, the desired action or outcome relating to the incident, including whether an alleged victim has expressed a desire for confidentiality in reporting the incident.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, employees who receive information regarding an incident under circumstances that render the employee’s communications confidential or privileged by law are required to report only the type of incident to the Title IX Coordinator.

Retaliation Prohibition

The University may not discipline or otherwise discriminate against an employee who in good faith makes a report as required by this policy or who cooperates with an investigation, a disciplinary process, or a judicial proceeding relating to a report made by the employee as required by this policy.

This prohibition against retaliation does not apply to an employee who reports an incident described by this policy perpetrated by the employee; or cooperates with an investigation, a disciplinary process, or a judicial proceeding relating to an allegation that the employee perpetrated an incident described by this policy.

Immunities

A person acting in good faith who reports or assists in the investigation of a report of an incident described by this policy or who testifies or otherwise participates in a disciplinary process or judicial proceeding arising from a report of such an incident:

1. Is immune from civil liability, and from criminal liability for offenses punishable by fine only, that might otherwise be incurred or imposed as a result of those actions; and
2. May not be subjected to any disciplinary action by the University where the person is enrolled or employed for any violation by the person of the institution's code of conduct reasonably related to the incident (e.g., relating to use of alcohol or drugs) unless the violation is one for which suspension or expulsion from the institution is a possible punishment.

These immunities do not apply to a person who perpetrates or assists in the perpetration of the incident reported under this policy.

Confidentiality

Unless waived in writing by the alleged victim, the identity of an alleged victim of an incident reported under this policy is confidential and may be disclosed only to:

1. Persons employed by or under contract with the University who are necessary to conduct an investigation of the report or any related hearings;
2. A law enforcement officer as necessary to conduct a criminal investigation of the report;
3. The person or persons alleged to have perpetrated the incident, to the extent required by other law; or
4. Potential witnesses to the incident as necessary to conduct an investigation of the report.

The University is required to issue reports containing information about reports made under this policy, in accordance with the law, but those reports will not identify any person.

Performance Evaluation

Consequences of Policy Violation:

Texas law provides:

1. An employee who the University determines, in accordance with the University's disciplinary procedure, to have knowingly failed to make a required report or to have knowingly made a false report with the intent to harm or deceive shall be terminated from employment.
2. An employee who knowingly failed to make a required report or who knowingly made a false report with the intent to harm or deceive commits the criminal offense of a Class B misdemeanor, except that the offense is a Class A misdemeanor if it is shown on the trial of the offense that the employee intended to conceal the incident that the employee was required to report.
