Policy Content

① Policies for NCAA Intercollegiate Athletics

The NCAA Policy on Transgender Student-Athlete Participation is available here.

The NCAA policy calls for transgender participation for each sport to be determined by the policy for the national governing body of that sport. If there is no national governing body policy, it would then be determined by the policy for that sport's international federation. If there is no international federation policy, it would be determined by policy criteria previously established by the IOC. Sport-specific policies are subject to ongoing review and recommendation by the NCAA

Committee on Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports to the Board of Governors.

The current NCAA policy aligns transgender student-athlete participation with the Olympic Movement. The IOC Transgender Guidelines are available here.

Each transgender student-athlete who wants to participate in NCAA athletics shall meet with the Associate Director of Athletics for Compliance to review current eligibility requirements and procedure for approval for transgender participation. The Compliance Director will locate the applicable governing policy for that sport and explain what the current requirements are and what medical documentation is needed. All medical documentation will be reviewed by Trinity's team physicians to determine if medical requirements have been met.

All discussions among involved parties and required written supporting documentation will be kept confidential, unless the student-athlete makes a specific request otherwise. All information about an individual student's transgender identity and medical information shall be maintained confidentially.

Transgender student-athletes like all student-athletes have to earn a roster spot on Trinity's NCAA Athletic Teams. For those student-athletes who were not recruited by the coaches, tryouts are typically offered unless all roster spots are filled.

② Policies for Club & Intramural Sports, Outdoor Recreation, and other College Recreational Activities

The NIRSA Championship Series Transgender Athlete Participation Policies and Guidelines are available here.

A transgender student-athlete may participate in accordance with their gender identity as stipulated by the policies and practices of NIRSA. Transgender student-athletes should consult with the Associate Athletic Director for Recreation and Sports Camps to determine the eligibility requirements.

When traveling, student-athletes shall be assigned lodging accommodations based on their gender identity, with the recognition that any student-athlete who requests extra privacy should be accommodated whenever possible.

● Conflict Protocol

- a. Conflicts should be addressed with the Associate Athletic Director for Recreation. For athletics, conflicts should be addressed with the Associate Athletic Director for Compliance. If desired the student-athlete can include Trinity's Faculty Athletic Representative, or faculty, staff member, or teammate of their choosing to provide support and advocacy on their behalf.
- b. If a participant feels they have been discriminated against or harassed because of a protected status (refer to Policy Prohibiting Harassment and Discrimination Based on Protected Status), they should contact Equal Opportunity Services (the Compliance Officer/Title IX Coordinator) to discuss their rights under school policy and supportive measures available to them.
